Growth Declines as Stature Rises

Career of Harold Macmillan, new prime minister of Great Britain, flourished as his mustache diminished. At left he sports a semi-handlebar variety at a 1933 dinner party. Next, as member of Parliament in 1937, he wears full-flowing style. As member of the British government early in Second World War he exhibits a bristly, guardsman type, and at right, taking over prime minister's residence at No. 10 Downing Street last week, he wears subdued, well-clipped diplomatic model.—(AP Wirephoto.)

Norris Offers Hope Of Cadboro Union

'It's No Utopia But Door Open'

Union of Cadboro Bay with Oak Bay would be "a logical step" and Oak Bay council would give consideration to any serious move in that direction, Reeve Fred Norris said last night.

"They'd have to realize this is no Utopia they'd be getting into, but if they want to get all the facts we'll be willing to discuss it with them," he said.

Reeve Norris was commenting on the announced desire of Cadboro Bay residents, reported in The Daily Colonist, to split from Saanich and join with Oak Bay.

Cadboro Bay tried the same move six years ago, but Oak Bay voters turned the idea down.

Mr. Norris noted that the original plan was for an extension of the Oak Bay boundary north to Gordon Head and the sea, but the inclusion of the so-called Panhandle, in which the city projects some distance, probably was the reason the plan was vetoed.

Technical difficulties which would be caused by the inclusion of the Panhandle would be "almost insurmountable," he said.

But generally, geographically and thinking of police and fire services, "union would be a logical step, although there are many difficulties that would have to be worked out," the reeve added.

ROOM TO GROW

"I can see the mutual advantages," he said, "and it would certainly give Oak Bay an area to grow into."

If Cadboro Bay residents were thinking that they would get sewers merely by splitting away from Saanich and joining Oak Bay, they'd be disappointed, Mr. Norris said.

All Oak Bay has been founded on local improvement — by which an area getting an improvement would pay for it through increased assessment—and that's the way it would work for Cadboro Bay, he said.

ROADS, SEWERS

Street lighting, generally lacking now in Cadboro Bay would come under general revenue, but sewers and road building would come under local improvement, he said.

"It's a big question, but we'd be glad to give them all the facts."

Saanich Reeve Arthur Ash, meanwhile, said Cadboro Bay residents would gain nothing by joining Oak Bay, because they'd get their roads and sewers by local improvement "and they can get that in Saanich."

Logical municipality for them to join is the city of Victoria, he said.

Saanich Coun. L. H. Passmore agreed on the local improvement question, and added that Saanich, having material and men on hand, could do it cheaper.

He took a slap at Reeve Ash, however, suggesting that if Cadboro Bay residents were interested in splitting from Saanich it was due to recent remarks of the reeve.

Mr. Ash had suggested urban Saanich join Victoria and rural Saanich be absorbed into Central Saanich.

Ottawa Help for Aged

Pension Boost Almost Certain

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal authorities are almost certain to boost old-age pensions this year.

However, the amount will depend on whether Ontario accepts a federal hospital insurance offer.

The Ontario legislature opens Jan. 28 and there is a belief in federal quarters that Premier Frost will agree to take part in the insurance scheme.

If this develops, Finance Minister Harris will undoubtedly provide $200,000,000 in his next budget to cover the insurance plan during the 1957-58 fiscal year.

It was felt that the funds available for boosting old age pensions would be then narrowed though there might be sufficient to help those in financial distress.

COST SHARED

Under the Old Age Assistance Act, the federal government shares with the provinces on a 50-50 basis the cost of a maximum pension of $40 a month to those in the 65-69 age bracket who show financial need.

A pension of $40 a month, based on a pay-as-you-go federal tax contribution, is paid to all those 70 years and over.

About 90,000 Canadians in the 65-69 group get the old age assistance which costs Ottawa $20,000,000 a year.

Increasing the payment to $50 with federal and provincial governments sharing the cost would require an extra federal outlay of $5,400,000.

Of those getting the universal pension about 40 per cent are in financial need. Pensions for these of $50 a month with a means test might require an extra federal outlay of $38,400,000 a year.

Irish Gallants Clear the Decks

BELFAST (AP)—Four friendly Irishmen drove into Dungannon Friday night, good-humoredly told citizens to duck, then blew up the new British military barracks. No casualties were reported.

The men, identified as masked raiders of the Irish Republican Army, tied up caretaker Samuel Kirk and took him out of the building.

Mrs. Margaret McPhilmey, standing in her doorway, said the men suggested she get indoors. Two little girls playing nearby got a friendly pat on the head and were told to run home.

The four men got in a car and drove off.

As Replacement

U.S. May Station A-Force in Japan

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government last night described as "speculative" reports that the only American division remaining in Japan will be withdrawn and an atomic task force sent there.

A joint statement by the state and defence departments said that troop movements in Japan would be undertaken only "after full consultation with the Japanese government."

It said there was a continuing Communist threat to peace and that the first cavalry division probably in the Far East requiring ably would be withdrawn from careful consideration of free world Japan in the process.

A defence official, briefing reporters on President Eisenhower's new budget earlier this week, said the army would be reduced by two divisions in the next 18 months and defence requirements in that area."

'Mass Ritual'

LONDON (Reuters) — A British doctor claimed Friday that too many children's tonsils are removed in a "mass ritual which has never been proved scientifically necessary."

Dr. John Fry, a family practitioner, contended that in many cases the tonsils were removed needlessly "in a desperate attempt to treat a normal phase of child development."

Holding U.S. $20 gold coin which he believes worth $9,000 is Charles E. Faulkner, 936 Fullerton.—(Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

Is He Rich Or Isn't He?

A Victoria resident who owns a 50-year-old United States $20 gold coin which he believes is worth $9,000 bought it originally from a Victoria family for less than $40.

Charles E. Faulkner, 936 Fullerton, paid $37.50 for the coin in 1927. He said last night that one like it had sold recently in Chicago for $9,000. There were only 16 like it in existence.

* * *

But the president of the Victoria Numismatic Society, Palmer Dahl, cast doubt over the value of the coin when asked for comment.

Mr. Dahl said it was very hard to distinguish between specimens of the particular coin, some of which were catalogued with a value of only $250.

The original design was too high and the coins could not be stacked. To correct this the design relief was lowered, he said.

Before the design was altered there were 176 proof coins struck from the original dies. The first 16 were stamped from polished blanks and each one was stamped nine times, being heated and softened between stampings.

'Certain Powers Bullies'

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Prime Minister Nehru said Friday "certain big powers" are trying to frighten smaller nations into accepting military protection by saying international communism otherwise would swallow them up.

At a reception for President Shukri al Kouatly of Syria, Nehru denounced the "power vacuum" theory but did not name any specific big power.

Nehru said these "certain big powers" had failed to understand the strong nationalist sentiment in Asia for preserving their freedom and achieving economic progress.

Nehru said the basic question in the Middle East is whether the vacuum in the area should be filled by the people of Middle East countries or some foreign power.

"The existence of oil there makes it a hotbed of foreign power politics," he said. "No country can advance under the shadow of a big foreign power, and every country can develop best only through its inherent strength."

To Outwit U.S.

Arabs Offer Jordan Aid

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Syria were reported Friday offering Jordan money and arms to replace the British subsidy that supported the old British-officered Arab Legion.

The offer was seen as an Egyptian attempt to head off application of the Eisenhower doctrine. Egypt fears the U.S. military-economic plan will isolate it.

The offer was reported after King Saud of Saudi Arabia and King Hussein of Jordan flew in for talks with President Nasser and Premier Sabri Assali of Syria.

King Saud is en route to Washington for talks with President Eisenhower and Nasser was pictured as eager to nail down the three - nation offer before Saud goes on.

The informant said Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Syria will pay Jordan £2,500,000 (nearly $36,000,000) annually to replace the British subsidy of $33,000,000.

Egypt and Saudi Arabia each will pay £5,000,000 and Syria £2,500,000, the informant said.

Egyptian leaders fear the United States is trying to isolate Egypt through co-operation with Jordan, Saudi Arabia and Lebanon.

They believe the United States may offer Saud enough backing to enable him to help Jordan by himself.

The Egyptians believe the United States wants to take Britain's place in Jordan, a British ally for 35 years.

Oceanography Student . . . . . Invades Man's World

Beauty Buries Her Face in Sea

By COURTNEY TOWER

Darrelyn Semon obviously couldn't become a "Tugboat Annie" as she wanted . . . being the complete opposite of the red-faced, ham-fisted, lovable fictional harridan . . . so she's becoming a seagoing scientist.

She stands out in a man's world like blustery Annie, though . . . as the only woman undergraduate in the world studying oceanography.

Darrelyn's reasons for her choice of career were outlined by her as some 50 sea scientists and students milled around at the sixth annual conference of Pacific Northwest Oceanographers at Pacific Naval Laboratory in Esquimalt.

She and Betty Ann Morse, a physics graduate studying oceanography at the university, were the only women at the two-day, two-nation exchange of ideas and plotting of a cycle of controlled studies.

University of Washington has the world's only full-fledged course in the subject, under Dr. Richard Fleming, a former Victorian. Darrelyn is the only woman graduate and Betty Ann the only woman taking graduate studies in oceanography, although Dr. Fleming said he had had "several queries" about the course this year from girls.

"Two years ago I took a sailing trip to Panama in a 50-foot ketch," was 22-year-old Darrelyn's romantic explanation of her choice, "and I became so interested in what is in the sea I decided to really study it."

"Also, I was brought up on Puget Sound and I would look for hours at things in the sea. My grandfather was a sea captain and when I was little I wanted to be a Tugboat Annie sort of person. . . . I love boats and this will give me the opportunity to get out on the sea a lot."

Another reason was that "I went to school determined not just to take everything ordinary . . . this is a great challenge, there is terrific competition among the boys."

* * *

The "maid in a million men" existence of Darrelyn and Betty Ann didn't seem to bother them at the conference, as scientists talked about the chemical, biological and physical aspects of the sea.

Dr. W. L. Ford, superintendent of the PNL, said theme of the conference was a planned series of observations, taken over a long period of time, in the same general ocean area.

The University of Washington contingent arrived aboard the research vessel My Brown Bear. Also represented were oceanographers from the University of British Columbia Institute of Oceanography and from the Pacific Oceanographic Group at Nanaimo.

Included in the United States group are two Turkish naval officers, two U.S. naval officers and one U.S. Coast Guard officer.

Bearded Dr. Fleming, who left Victoria for UBC in 1926 and later went to the U.S., said work is being planned for the coming year, to fit in with the International Geophysical Year program.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

ALBERT R. Davidson of 825 Monterey has some critical remarks about newspapers.

"You say that the chief object of the newspaper is to convey facts," he writes. "But do you? Generally, a report of a council meeting (or any other) highlights hard words—emphasizes certain statements, omits others. Your facts often are not facts.

"They are distorted in order to create headlines, to sell more papers—charge more for advertising—to make money."

Mr. Davidson's criticism is apparently sincere, but unjust. Any report of a meeting is bound to emphasize certain statements and omit others. A faithful stenographic account of every word spoken at one council meeting would occupy most of the newspaper. A newspaper hasn't the space to print everything that is said or done. Nobody would read the stuff if it did appear in print, because it would be too long and dull.

Mr. Davidson will surely admit that some kind of selection must be made. How do newspapers decide which details to print and which to leave out? There is only one measure: the number of people who are likely to be interested.

"Hard words" between elected representatives should be reported, because they show disagreement over policy or a clash of personalities. In either case the matter is of interest to voters, because they may be called upon to take sides in the next election, or before.

If the elected representatives reach agreement and make a decision that affects a number of people, that fact deserves to be reported as well.

But there is no space to report every minor decision or every passage of polite, meaningless talk.

Have they done anything? Are they making plans to do something? Do they disagree on the course of action to follow? Those are the questions that count in weighing the value of news from council meetings—which is the field in which Mr. Davidson chooses to attack us.

No two persons would agree precisely on the kind of selection to make.

The charge of "distortion" is often heard, but seldom backed up with proof. Often it means that the accuser would like to see the news colored to suit his own viewpoint, and feels cheated if it does not. However, I am sure this is not true in my correspondent's case.

Of course every newspaper wants to sell more papers. But the people in the editorial department are not concerned directly with that. Nor have they anything to do with advertising.

The people in the editorial department try to present their facts and comment in the clearest, most compact and exciting form, so that people will read them. There is nothing to be ashamed of in that. Newspapermen make errors. So do people in other trades.

I am only a small cog in the machine, but I am sure Mr. Davidson is right when he says the management of newspapers wants to make money. There is nothing obscene about that aim. If they did not make money, the newspapers would cease publication. And then perhaps the job of printing news would be taken over by the government, the trade unions, or some other non-profit organization. Would they convey facts in a more honest and objective way than commercial newspapers do? I doubt it.

Mine, Powder Plant

Toll Heavy in Blasts

From Associated Press

Explosions yesterday killed six men at Olympia, Wash., and trapped five men in a mine shaft 61 miles northeast of Anchorage, Alaska.

Men trapped by the Alaska blast are believed doomed. Rescue workers estimate it will take two days to reach the pocket where the men were working.

The Washington explosion occurred when a ton and a half of dynamite blew up without warning at the Pacific Powder Co. plant, 11 miles south of Olympia.

The building vanished in a huge ball of flame which stripped nearby trees of their small branches. Static electricity is blamed for the blast.

No explanation has been advanced to account for the Alaska coal mine explosion on Jan.

They were sealed off from rescue workers by a 35-foot mass of dirt, rocks and timber.

A sixth miner walked out of the shaft on a routine chore just before the blast.

The first recorded natural gas well was drilled at Fredonia, N.Y.

Hanna Bid Fails; Appeal Launched

VANCOUVER (CP)—A deportation order was issued against Christian George Hanna Friday but the lawyer for the 23-year-old stateless migrant filed notice of appeal.

The deportation order followed a 2½-hour hearing before a one-man board.

Donald White, counsel for Hanna now must prepare a brief which immigration authorities want by Monday. The appeal may be heard by Immigration Minister Jack Pickersgill or a three-man board.

While he awaits the decision as to whether he can remain in Canada after 15 months at sea, Hanna will be detained in the immigration building here.

Hanna, who claims he was born at sea, has no passport or citizenship papers. He was taken off the Norwegian freighter Gudveig at Port Alberni, B.C., Thursday. He had been aboard since stowing away at Beirut, Lebanon, late in 1955. Six countries refused him permission to land.

Meanwhile, in the House of Commons yesterday Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, MP for Esquimalt-Saanich, pressed Mr. Pickersgill to give further consideration to Hanna's wish to stay in Canada.

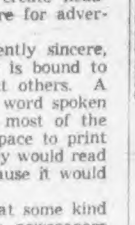
Garden Notes

Peach Spray Winter 'Must'



By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Lots of gardeners of my acquaintance seem to get along fairly well without any winter spraying of their fruit trees, although there isn't any doubt about the benefits accruing from this operation.

I can sympathize with them, for winter spraying is a miserable chore, and for those of us who must go to the office or shop all through the week, it always seems to rain on weekends, the only free time we have for outdoor garden work.

There is one winter spray job which absolutely must be done, however, and that is the peach trees. The spores of the Peach Leaf Curl disease are everywhere around us, and unless preventive spraying is done early in the year, before the bud tips open, you haven't a Chinaman's chance of healthy foliage on your tree next summer. I don't believe there is a single unsprayed peach tree on Vancouver Island which doesn't become infected with this loathsome disease.

COMMON TROUBLE

This trouble is so common, I imagine every gardener hereabouts has seen its disastrous effect. The tree blossoms and leafs out normally, but soon after the leaves reach their full size, they become swollen, distorted and curled, with great reddish blisters all over them.

Later, the red coloring in the leaf gradually changes as the fungus infection produces its spores, and the leaf surface becomes covered with a whitish bloom, something like mildew. Young shoot stems and fruit become affected. Your tree loses all its leaves in early summer, and without foliage, it cannot manufacture any food for its tissues.

SECOND CROP

While your infected peach may succeed in pushing out a second crop of foliage, it can do this only at the expense of its inner resources and it is terribly weakened by the effort. Eventually, without help, the tree is bound to die.

Once the symptoms make their appearance, it is far too late to do anything about it. By that time, the disease is well down within the tissues of the leaves and cannot be reached by any spray. The only time you can take any effective action is in the late winter, when the flower buds begin to swell but just before the bud tips open.

IDEAL TIME

This ideal time for spraying may occur any time between late January and early March, and while spraying at any time within this period is better than no spraying at all, it is best to keep a careful eye on your trees and try to catch the buds at exactly the correct stage for spraying.

It is very seldom that you can hit it absolutely on the nose, for we are at the mercy of the weather man. Naturally, you can't spray during a rainy period, for this would dilute and wash away the spray before it could get in its cleansing action. If rain occurs soon after spraying, give your peach another dose during the next dry spell.

ANY GOOD SPRAY

Any good fungicidal spray can be used, but personally, after trying several modern types, I have gone back to lime-sulphur, mixing it at the rate of 25 level tablespoonfuls of the dry powder to one gallon of water. Apply thoroughly, making sure that every single bud on your tree is drenched and dripping.

Lime-sulphur discolors paint and stucco, so if your peach is trained against a wall, you'd better stretch some papers behind it to protect the surface.

From $150 to $360 a Year

To Cost Taxpayers One Mill

District Teachers Win Wage Increases

A 5.45 per cent wage increase totalling $151,120 has been granted to Greater Victoria teachers, the school board announced yesterday.

When divided up, Victoria will bear about $75,000 to $80,000 of the cost, Oak Bay would pay about $22,000, Saanich, $38,000 and Esquimalt, $7,000. The estimates were based on last year's school assessment percentages.

The remainder of the cost, about two per cent would be paid by the rural areas.

City Comptroller-Treasurer Dennis Young estimated it would mean an increase of about one mill to Victoria taxpayers.

A one-mill increase is also estimated by Saanich and Oak Bay municipal treasurers. Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele said the increase would probably be under one mill in his municipality.

EXTENT OF RAISES

School board finance chairman Kenneth Leeming said the settlement with Greater Victoria Teachers' Association will give salary increases ranging from $150 to $360 annually.

Mr. Leeming said he would appreciate meeting officials from the municipal councils to explain how the school board budget will be set up this year.

Mayor Percy Scurrah also wants to meet with the board before accepting its 1957 budget.

Mr. Leeming said unless the councils are informed about the budget and the reasons for costs, they might look on it is an expense that could be curtailed.

The school board's 1957 budget is not expected to be presented until about mid-March.

The wage increase will be granted in two salary boosts, one effective this month and the other in September.

QUALIFICATIONS

Increase effective this month will give salaries ranging from $2,200 to $6,320, a boost of $100 to $360, depending on qualifications held by the teacher.

An across-the-board increase in September for all categories will give another $50 to teachers with elementary qualifications and $100 for secondary qualifications.

This is in line with the single salary scale which will also be granted in September.

This will mean teachers will be paid for their qualifications and not on the basis of whether they are teaching elementary or secondary classes.

The teachers' association has been in negotiation for the new one-year contract since last October when it presented a request for salary increases totalling $320,000.

Mr. Leeming said factors in settling the new wages were a 3.09 per cent increase in living costs and the need to make salaries attractive to high school graduates and others deciding on a profession.

VICTOR W. WILLIAMS

Named this week as CCF candidate to contest the Victoria riding in the forthcoming federal election. Victor W. Williams has lived in Victoria only five months. Educated at Oxford, he was a member of the Alberta CCF party before coming here.

Province Seeks Help

Increased federal financial aid toward the cost of technical education is being sought by the provincial government.

Education Minister Leslie R. Peterson will leave for Ottawa Monday to ask for federal grants which would pay for 50 per cent of both capital and operating costs of all vocational schools in B.C.

At present B.C. gets a maximum of 50 per cent operating costs.

Mr. Peterson said yesterday however he was strongly opposed to the suggestion made in the House of Commons this week by Victoria MP Dr. F. T. Fairey that the federal government should take over all technical education from the provinces.

AGAINST TREND

"We don't agree that federal authorities should continue the trend toward centralization by taking over our educational system, whether it be technical education or any other form," he said.

"We are aware of the need for vocational training in this province and if the federal government will share in the cost we will do our best to meet these needs," the minister continued. "But it is felt that provincial authorities are in a better position to control technical education."

Fifth A-Plant Project Set In Britain

LONDON (U.P.) — Britain launched construction of its fifth full-size nuclear power plant yesterday and a big boost in plans to build more was predicted.

Lord Citrine, chairman of the Nationalized Central Electricity Authority, said the present construction schedule probably would be "doubled or trebled" by the government of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

He presided at ground-breaking ceremonies for the Bradwell nuclear power station in Essex, first atomic plant in the London area and the fifth now completed or under construction in Britain.

Nowhere else in the world is full scale nuclear power already in service.

The Fountain Could Wait

PUBLIC works committee of the city council now proposes to try out the Faustmann proposal for reconstruction of the Fountain Circle by means of a mock-up of sandbags and temporary signals. Such an arrangement for a trial period of six months should show up the good and bad points of the plan, and thus might save the City a great deal of expense if practice should happen to discount the theory. But is there any real need to do anything about the Fountain right-away?

This paper has always strongly supported efforts to improve Victoria's traffic conditions, and recognizes that they cannot be bettered materially without extensive changes in channels and patterns of movement. At the risk of appearing to contradict ourselves, however, we suggest that traffic in the downtown section is in much more urgent need of reorganization. Those at the Fountain are not satisfactory, but are in no way comparable to the confusion and disorder occurring several times a day, and in some seasons all day long, in the main shopping and business area.

Congestion at the Fountain is intermittent and of brief duration. During almost the whole of the day traffic flows around the circle smoothly, interrupted only by the impatience of some and the timidity or ignorance of others who seem unable to comprehend the very simple principle of movement there. At the worst period lasting less than an hour there is inconvenience, but it is of a relatively minor nature and control by police officers appears adequate. At most no one need be delayed more than a minute or so, which is little to complain about under today's traffic conditions in cities everywhere.

Ultimately something should be done about the Fountain; but first things first. Tie-ups in the centre of town, along Government Street especially, are becoming really serious. If the City feels competent to carry out all necessary improvements this year, well and good; but if not the Fountain does not appear to belong at the head of the long list. Time enough for expensive changes there when the other mess has been cleared away.

Hygiene in the Church

SOMETIMES one wonders if North America isn't becoming too antiseptic for its own peace of mind. A North Vancouver doctor is disturbed by the Anglican Church's custom of a common communion cup, which he distrusts as a medium liable to spread infection through the mouth. Theoretically his medical training sustains his thesis; but practice challenges it.

Small children eat pecks of dirt without harm against the precepts of the medical books; they have been doing this for centuries. For the same length of time Anglican communicants have shared a common chalice with equal immunity. Archbishop Sexton says he has never heard of a case of infection being traced to the chalice; nor does the protesting doctor cite any such instance.

Some church denominations have separate communion cups for their congregations, although for convenience and not for any declared hygienic purpose. The Anglican Church has adhered to the pattern set at the first communion of all, and it is not likely to countenance a departure from ancient tradition. In its view what was good enough for the founder of Christianity is certainly good enough for His followers.

Health authorities perform a splendid service; the world is in their debt. Their preoccupation with "don'ts" however is apt to lead them astray at times; they can be so caught up with lists of taboos as to overlook the hardihood of the human race. One is inclined to agree with Archbishop Sexton when he says that the North Vancouver doctor is unduly perturbed.

It is at least difficult to get excited about a "risk" which apparently has remained only in this category throughout the long history of the communion service.

Replacing City Plant

THE proposal advanced by Mr. James Garnett, city engineer, for the creation of a replacement program to help with the perpetual upkeep of Victoria's fixed services, such as roads, sewers and storm drains, is a sound one. The public works committee considered the proposal this week, and it will go forward to the city council for consideration later. As Mr. Garnett has observed, Victoria is in a good position to launch such a plan with most of its fixtures in. It is the question of replacement and upkeep which recurs constantly. Any means of regular scheduling of renewals in the future would be very helpful, and that would ease off the peak-and-trough outlays of the city in its running costs.

It is not every community which could take advantage of the proposal. Victoria is large enough to have special resources of its own, and fortunate in that to a large extent a good deal of its foundation plant has already been installed and paid for. In instances of major renewals since, the money has had to be borrowed. If renewals can be maintained systematically out of revenue there need arise no sudden claims on the civic purse or heavy future borrowing. The corporation and its ratepayers would benefit materially by such provident forethought, if the plan can be established.

An Excellent Start

THE BRITISH COLUMBIA ELECTRIC CO. LTD. has made an excellent start on the initial stage of its plan to bury overhead wires in some 30 blocks in the inner downtown area. For the last few weeks the work has been proceeding on multiple fronts with a correlation of effort which has produced effective results. With only a minimum of disturbance to city traffic, cable trenches have been dug, conduit piping laid and underground service chambers installed in the city's street system. The choice of winter for a start on the big program now has been fully justified. The work is progressing fast, and there has been little or no upset to the business life of the community.

While no one may judge of unfinished work, already something of the effect of the result can be envisioned. The disappearance of poles from the inner blocks of the city, the clearing of walls of "birdcage" wires, and a weather-proof home for the new cables, will add immeasurably to the utility of the transmission system and the over-all appearance of the community.

West German Status Rising

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WEST Germany's importance in the European political set-up is growing rapidly.

It is being suggested that West Germany will be regarded before long as the strongest power on the Western European continent.

The latest evidence of this increased importance is the report that a German, Lt.-Gen. Hans Speidel, is to be named commander-in-chief of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization ground forces in the central European zone.

In that capacity, Speidel would command British, French, American, as well as German troops in that part of Western Europe which would be the first line in event of a war with Soviet Russia.

It is reported also that both President Theodor Heuss and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will make state visits to Washington this spring.

* * *

The prestige of West Germany has been growing steadily for a long time.

Under Adenauer, the country has risen from utter prostration after the destruction of the Second World War to solid prosperity. Its 50,000,000 people enjoy full employment. It is forming an army, navy and air force which will add between 300,000 and 500,000 men to the NATO defence alliance.

West Germany's position was strengthened, especially as regards prestige, as the result of the Suez Canal affair.

* * *

It seemed a matter of some significance that Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India made it a point to stop off at the Duesseldorf airport on his way home from Washington last month to confer with Adenauer.

No country realizes more than does Russia the strength and importance of West Germany.

East Germany, which Russia controls, is a splinter country with a puppet government. Of the 18,000,000 people in East Germany, 1,723,000 have sought refuge in West Germany since 1949.

* * *

Because Russia sees the importance of the West German Republic, it is determined not to permit the unification of the country.

If the anti-Communist surge of revolt in the satellite countries spreads to East Germany, it will bring about a crisis.

Both the Soviet and the West German governments fear that in the event of a revolt West Germans would flock across the border to support it. What Russia might do cannot be foreseen. But the United States and other NATO countries are pledged to defend West Germany.

Vital Wealth

By FRANK KELLEY

NATURAL resources have been — as they were evidently intended to be, through the foresight of a beneficient Creator—the medium by which mankind if so disposed might prosper in various ways. Such natural resources, subject to restrictions governing their exploitation, have contributed greatly to the growth of certain racial strains and made their lands great as they discovered uses for what inquisitive faculties revealed on becoming familiar with metals, for instance, from underground sources and the varied forms of vegetation with which the surface of the earth was endowed in more or less favored areas.

It was a long, long time in the story of man's progress on earth, however, before he learned his first lessons regarding conservation. In the meantime, the lands that were exploited grew great commercially through the development of natural resources, particularly those that might be classified as visible assets—like forests, possibly man's greatest heritage.

It was natural, too, for him to exploit the trees for the good of his kind without restrictions. And if the exploiter had had any such fantastic thoughts, increasing demands for forest products would hardly have justified regulations prohibiting logging and milling of trees taking anywhere from one to four hundred years to attain merchantable timber classifications.

It is my privilege to have known the days when the logging and milling of B.C. forests was still a struggle to keep ox-teams hauling logs over corduroy skid-roads, rafting them to sawmills and their final manufacture into marketable lumber. Among the pioneers were men like the Saywards of Victoria and the Alexanders of Burrard Inlet. They appreciated the advantages of lumbering in forests such as the coast boasted; and when it seemed natural to accept things as they were without worrying about situations that any kind of a future might create."

* * *

Those lumbermen of the 1890's prided themselves on their products and were not slow in congratulating themselves on possessing timber tracts more or less insured from seasonal forest fires through seasonal rainfall, as well as the prevalence of sea fog, which together kept the vegetation on the floor of coastal forests evergreen, preventing flash run-offs and affording a continual source of life-preserving moisture to stem and branch of standing trees, as well as assuring supplies of water in natural storage basins, which the snowfall was never able to equal, where there was no soil to regulate run-off.

Nor were those lumbermen of other days thinking along a groove of thought that might preserve water for other purposes than forest insurance. It took a long time for a lot of folk to realize, however, that health as well as wealth depends on water as well as trees, and are indispensible to one another. Modern logging methods—efficient and so different from the one-time ox-team routine of handling timber—and the foresight of present-day lumbermen in their efforts to perpetuate the forest growth in logged-off areas could be nullified by a method of gathering vegetation wherever it exists. The creation of portable pulp mills, operating preferably in coastal waters (possibilities of which have been discussed at intervals) should be closely scrutinized, if such an application is ever received by the B.C. guardians of the public domain. One can imagine such floating factories would not leave much vegetation, suitable for pulp, on any hillsides that now keep streams flowing into natural reservoirs.

Gerald Waring

Reports from Ottawa

PRIME Minister St. Laurent's plan for the Senate to undertake a three-year study of the use of farm land reflects government appreciation of a disturbing economy anomaly. It is that for several years now farm earnings have been depressed while the rest of the economy boomed.

In the past the farmer encountered hard times only when the rest of the nation also was in economic trouble. The fact that this is not the case now has stimulated thinking in many quarters — thinking which points to the conclusion that the fault is to be found in the way many farmers operate.

* * *

A senate investigation isn't needed to reveal that many farmers have too little land and capital for economic operations, and that many others are scratching subsistence livelihoods from land that should never have been cleared. But what the Senate inquiry can do is to come up with recommendations for government action aimed at improving the economic position of the farmers.

The Senate study is to be limited to agriculture in the eastern provinces. That is where most of the marginal farms are located, where farmers are in more urgent need of government help. In the west a government program already exists, in the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act, covering the kind of aid which St. Laurent seems to have in mind for eastern farmers.

* * *

It is no coincidence that two of the four new senators appointed by the PM a fortnight ago are men highly qualified to serve on this inquiry. Austin C. Taylor was minister of agriculture in New Brunswick for 17 years, and Henri-Charles Bois is an agronomist, an agricultural economist, and general manager of the big farmers' co-op, La Cooperative Federee de Quebec.

Another member of the Senate committee is almost certain to be Sen. J. A. McDonald, a former minister of agriculture in Nova Scotia. Sen. T. A. Crerar is a westerner, but as a former federal minister of agriculture and one of the most outstanding members of the Upper House, he is also likely to be called into service for this probe.

* * *

In brief, the problems which may well be encompassed by this inquiry are that many farms are too small and have poor soil and inadequate drainage, and that many farmers lack sufficient capital and make poor use of their land.

Federal experts assert that in general mixed farming—that most prevalent in the east—a farmer should have 80 or 100 acres under cultivation, including land in crop, fallow, and improved pasture. The 1951 census showed the average farm in Prince Edward Island had 63 acres under cultivation, Nova Scotia 28, New Brunswick 38, Quebec 65 and Ontario 84.

The Gordon Commission disclosed that the average income in the Maritimes is 37 per cent lower than the average for the six other provinces. This is partly due to the low incomes of fishermen, but also largely due to the fact that many farms are too small and too poor to provide more than subsistence living.

* * *

It takes capital to buy more or better land, to improve land and to mechanize operations. Many farmers haven't the capital and haven't the collateral needed to borrow from the banks. The result is that poor farmers tend to become poorer—a situation which the administration here now seems on the verge of deciding it can condone no longer.

Choosing a Seat-Mate

By GREGORY CLARK

PERSONALLY I have no desire to be the first man aboard a bus. I like to be about the fifteenth or twentieth. Then I can pick whom I am going to sit beside.

If you are among the first you never can tell who is going to plump down beside you. Maybe somebody you have been avoiding for years. Could be somebody you owe money to. Or worse still somebody who is hipped on political or religious convictions, who has been waiting for years to get you pinned against the window in a bus, and unload.

* * *

Apparently the mass of mankind don't care who sits beside them so long as they have a seat, and a window seat at that. Maybe the mass of mankind doesn't fear the conversation of its seat mates. But it isn't conversation that is the only hazard. You can shove and chivvy your way into first or second place in the bus queue, grab the best window seat near an exit, and then have a lady with a small and agile two-year-old boy skid down beside you. And the little boy has an all-day sucker very sticky in his hands (plural) and hardly is he seated on his mother's matronly lap before he takes a fawncy to you, and starts climbing onto your lap, gazing up at you with a fond expression.

Another disaster is when a lady loaded with parcels chooses you for her seat mate, and you find yourself loaded with parcels too.

Worst of all, you might get, if you are a pusher, a slightly inebriated gentleman for a seat mate who, after studying you beerily sideways for a long block or two, decides he does not like the cut of your jib, and begins to make observations on your physical makeup, your style of hat and your maternal ancestry. The only worse fate than this is to have a lady who has taken a couple of boosters before going home to her tragic lot, and decides from your kind face that you are just the guy to whom to confide her life story.

* * *

Me, I like to get on a bus around fifteenth or twentieth and then, with a cunning born of long experience, slide into a seat beside a middle-aged gentleman who makes a habit of reading a paper-back novel on his way home in the bus. Next best, a man reading a newspaper; especially the sporting pages. Rarely does one of these characters interrupt his perusal of what is going on in the world of sport to read you a selection from his favorite sport columnist.

All in all, I think the best possible seat mate in a home-going bus is a guy reading a newspaper, sporting pages preferred.

City Notebook

Crumbs for Hard Work

By ORMOND MARRION

THE preliminary report of the Royal Commission on Canada's Economic Prospects, more handily known as the Gordon Commission, may seem to offer Victoria little in return for the laborious hours and days spent by the former mayor and the city manager in preparing submissions on Victoria's past, present and probable future.

The commission visited Victoria in November, 1956. It heard in some detail about the problems Victoria has and expects to have in the next quarter-century, and from Claude L. Harrison, much about Victoria's claims to special consideration by the federal government.

It heard similar submissions, of course, from other cities across Canada. But in its preliminary report (to be followed, granted, by a comprehensive report) it has devoted a scant three pages out of 142 to municipal requirements and financing, and less to recommendations or observations of discernable advantage or comfort to Victoria.

* * *

The commission makes its observations on urban municipalities in nine paragraphs.

First, it observes that the growth of population will lead to increased requirements for housing and various forms of "social capital" such as roads, schools, hospitals and waterworks, and that the needs for this social capital have grown fastest in the cities and their surrounding areas—obvious facts that need hardly have been put on expensive paper, except that a commission, like any of us, has to start somewhere.

Second, it says that in many cities these facilities are inadequate, and that large sums will have to be spent in the next 25 years to bring them to satisfactory standards, probably $100,000,000,000 in all at present prices. It expresses the interesting opinion that these expenditures will be well within the capacity of the Canadian economy to sustain, but that the various levels of government and the public must give more attention to the problems involved.

Third, it calls for proper over-all planning of metropolitan development, which the Capital Region Planning Board already has in hand in Victoria.

Fourth, it suggests that new approaches and new forms of municipal organization may be needed to permit comprehensive planning. It appears to call, in other words, for some form of metropolitan government in metropolitan areas, but it doesn't say so outright.

Fifth, it expresses confidence that the need for recreational and cultural facilities will increasingly receive the attention deserved, although (as if one needed to be told) "in most cases, solutions will be dependent upon the provision of adequate finances."

* * *

The sixth observation has more meat in it. The total net municipal debt, the commission says, has increased considerably since the war, but the burden of it is considerably below the pre-war level if expressed as a proportion of personal disposable income. Debt charges also form a lower percentage of municipal expenditure, and therefore "it would not be unreasonable for municipalities . . . to increase their long-term borrowings." Victoria, however, setting something of an example in Canada, is adhering and at the moment intends to adhere to a pay-as-you-go policy.

Seventh, the commission suggests that some municipalities might increase assessments (which B.C. municipalities cannot do) or tax rates (which no council wants to do) and that senior government should accept assessments on their property (which Victoria has long maintained) and that an annual tax on motor vehicles would be a substantial revenue producer—which is not a popular suggestion.

Eighth, the commission suggests that municipalities should impose adequate charges to cover costs of specific services, which Victoria does.

Finally, it calls for more clear-cut definition of provincial and municipal functions and responsibilities.

* * *

So, it will be seen, the products of countless hours of work by municipal officials have been compressed into a few rather unexciting observations.

But the comprehensive report is yet to come, some time this year. And meanwhile, even if the report is a disappointment, the inquiry has not been a loss in Victoria. For to tell the commission about itself, Victoria had to look discerningly at itself and its future. The resulting submissions may gather dust in Ottawa, but they are invaluable to Victoria in plotting its own course.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

Astronomers agree that living on such planets as Venus and Mars would be unbearable. So we'll have to get used to it—this is the best world we're likely to have.

"Finance and engineering must march hand in hand," says a business leader. And they do, too—judging by the way the appliance falls apart the day after the final payment.

Letters to the Editor

Now, Now, Mr. Pickersgill

Canada is rightly welcoming many homeless Hungarian refugees, and yet, according to Mr. Pickersgill, minister of immigration, cannot accept the unfortunate "man without a country," Christian Hanna.

Come, come, Mr. Pickersgill, have a heart. Canada is big enough and generous enough, I am quite sure, to house this waif, even if, as Mr. Pickersgill says, he is liable to want to move about. We've got lots of room.

Tribute to John Mooney

In tribute to the late John Mooney we would like to record his voluntary effort in introducing and sustaining square dancing which helped combat misfortune and succeeded in making life more pleasurable and bearable to those undergoing a transitory period of mental illness. John Mooney's actions hastened the recovery of patients as selfless contribution inspired towards a better understanding in a confused and troubled world.

Jobs for Newcomers

I see by today's paper that 81 more Hungarians have arrived in Victoria, most of whom are, to quote, "husky young men." These young men will of course be looking for jobs—although we have at present thousands of unemployed.

One knows of course what will happen, as has happened in the past; simply this: Canadian-born young men will be either laid off or refused jobs in order to make openings for these newcomers.

Certainly charity is a fine thing, but it should begin at home. If the federal government wants to flood the country with refugees, well and good. I suppose someone has to take them in; but let the government support them as long as any able-bodied Canadian man or woman is out of work, because no one is going to support or pay transportation for our own people in their own country while they are out of work.

One can be just as hungry, cold, and discouraged tramping the roads looking for work here in our homeland as in any other country.

For Service Men

Wider BCHIS Asked

The provincial cabinet was asked yesterday to widen the scope of the present B.C. Hospital Insurance Service coverage for armed service personnel and their dependents.

In a brief to the cabinet a delegation representing the B.C. Command of the Canadian Legion noted that servicemen no longer had to wait a year before becoming eligible for BCHIS coverage but could qualify 21 days after their arrival in B.C.

The delegation said, however, that this did not cover the problem of the B.C. serviceman who may be transferred out of the province and on his return and discharge had to wait a year before becoming eligible, despite the fact that his family may have lived in the province during the period of his absence.

Cabinet was asked that such men be eligible immediately on their return.

The Legion also asked:

That dependents of War Veterans' Allowance Act pensioners be given the same consideration as received by old age pensioners in that they be exempt from paying $1 a day hospital co-insurance charge.

That the five per cent sales tax be removed from the sale of all school books and supplies and also on children's clothing beyond the size at present covered by exemption. This present exemption on garments extends to size 14x for girls and size 15 for boys as well as shoes up to size six.

That the government introduce legislation to give Indian veterans the same privileges in the licensed premises of veterans' clubs as held by other Legion members.

Chamber Links Group Activities

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce is acting as a co-ordinating force toward a unification of B.C. centennial activities by local service clubs and fraternal organizations, Hugh Stephen, chamber vice-president, told a meeting of the chamber yesterday.

Voices Across Border

A Vancouver woman injured in a recent car accident is receiving messages of good wishes, thanks to a telephone call by a Victorian broadcast on a Los Angeles radio station.

Telephone call was made by Mrs. Mildred Vining, 2220 Cook, a fan of the late-night "Party Line" program on KABC, 790 kilocycles.

Some time ago, Mrs. Vining wrote to the program. Her name was broadcast, and another listener asked that she write a letter to someone in a U.S. hospital.

Recently, Mrs. Vining's stepdaughter, Mrs. Phyllis Hitchen, Vancouver, suffered a broken neck in a traffic mishap. Mrs. Vining asked her American friend to send along a letter.

Radio announcer Jack Rourke heard about it and arranged for Mrs. Vining to broadcast by telephone over KABC at 12.30 a.m. Thursday. The connection was made exactly on time.

Incidentally, during the conversation, Rourke was surprised to learn that Victoria is on an island and gets very little snow.

Teacher To Study In London

Post-graduate study in London, England, on a $2,000 IODE scholarship is the rosy outlook for Victoria College English instructor Miss Ann Saddlemyer.

She was awarded one of four post-graduate overseas scholarships by the Dominion IODE.

After leaving Victoria College in May, Miss Saddlemyer will teach English at Saskatchewan University summer school then enroll at the University of London in September.

Born in Prince Albert, Sask., in 1932, she went to high school in Humboldt, Sask., where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Saddlemyer, still live.

Miss Saddlemyer applied for the IODE award through the provincial branch of the organization in Saskatchewan and was awarded it in their name.

She received her BA degree from the University of Saskatchewan in 1953 and her MA from Queen's University in September, 1956.

The two years' study in London with a major in Irish drama will be towards her doctor of philosophy degree.

She plans to return to Canada after completing her post-graduate study and will teach English at a university.

"I hope to get a spot teaching drama history and criticism when I get back," Miss Saddlemyer said. "I would like to return to Victoria College but I'll have to go where the jobs are open."

OTTAWA (BUP) — The aircraft carrier HMCS Magnificent is scheduled to leave Port Said, Egypt, Sunday morning for Naples, naval headquarters said last night. She will sail from there to Scotland and home, arriving in Halifax before Feb. 15.

Meanwhile Canada is reducing its contingent to the UN Emergency Force in the Middle East.

Eight of the 12 Flying Boxcars used to ferry UN troops to Egypt from Italy are returning home.

The RCAF also announced it will base four single-engine Otter aircraft and two twin-engine Dakotas at Abu Suweir near the Suez Canal.

Job Picture Encouraging

Number of unemployed men in the Victoria area dropped 32 to 2,704 during the week, National Employment Office officials said yesterday.

"This is most encouraging," said Charles A. Mudge, manager of the office, "since the annual pattern of unemployment usually shows a steady increase through to the middle of February."

The figure is lower than 1955 and 730 lower than 1954, although slightly above the average for this time of year, he said.

Total jobless increased to 3,839, due to a steady increase in the number of women seeking work.

Number of women's applications for unemployment insurance [illegible] total this winter and only 51 below the highest figure ever recorded in the Victoria office, Mr. Mudge stated.

Waitresses and competent junior stenographers are still in demand, but vacancies for women have fallen off, he said.

In the men's section, graduate engineers are required, but there is a sizable surplus of construction laborers, truck drivers, carpenters and unskilled workers.

Ingrid Flies To U.S.

PARIS (UP)—Ingrid Bergman, laughing and gay, took off for New York last night for her first visit to America in the seven years since her romance with Roberto Rossellini took her to Italy.

The blonde actress said her visit and any trips she may make in the future will be strictly temporary.

"I am a European," she said at Orly airport before boarding an airliner.

"Yes, of course I am looking forward to the trip and I am quite excited about it," she said.

The actress was due in New York at 7.25 a.m. today.

She will receive the Film Critics 1956 Award for her role in "Anastasia," will work in some shopping expeditions and see the Broadway hit "My Fair Lady" before flying back to Europe.

Inger Stevens Good Star Bet

By SHEILAH GRAHAM

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—From Bing Crosby to Danny Kaye in two pictures. This is happening to newcomer Inger Stevens. I caught up with blondish-brown Inger, 22 years old, at Metro, where she is Bing's leading lady in "Man On Fire." Not bad for her first. Her second takes her to Paramount with Kaye.

* * *

I'm assured that wedding bells for Susan Hayward and Eaton Chalkey, handsome Washington, D.C., attorney, are unlikely. Although he is legally divorced, his religion prevents a second marriage.

* * *

Joan Collins, re her romance with Arthur Loew Jr., admits: "There's no one I like better than Arthur."

* * *

June Haver is testing for the role of Helen Morgan's girl friend in Warner's movie biography. With Ann Blyth playing Helen, it will be fascinating to see how much the story is changed.

Add oddities: Elvis Presley's first picture, "Love Me Tender," did better business than Clark Gable's latest . . . Orson Welles has signed to direct and play the heavy in "Badge of Evil," and Charlton Heston looks likely for the hero role.

* * *

Humphrey Bogart gave his greatest performance during the agonizing last month of his life. We all knew he didn't have a chance. So did he—but he didn't complain. It was the same Bogey, kidding and making jokes. We're going to miss him.

An open note to the Motion Picture Academy of Arts and Sciences: Why are actors and actresses who are billed as stars allowed to classify themselves in a "supporting" category in order to win an Oscar? Mickey Rooney, for example, who surely was the star of "The Bold and the Brave," is now listed, at his own request, in the supporting bid for an academy award. And unless my eyes tricked me, Robert Stack and Dorothy Malone were stars and not supporting players in "Written On the Wind." Oddly enough, Yvonne De Carlo who, to my mind, was a supporting player in "The Ten Commandments," was not allowed to change her star rating in order to win an award.

* * *

Fred Astaire glimpsed Joanne Dru at a party and begged his hostess to introduce him. He asked for a dance—one of the rare times that he has been known to dance off stage. "Now," says Joanne, "I have something to tell my grandchildren—I danced with Fred Astaire."

Nonstop Jets Circle Globe

MARCH AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UP)—Three B-52 Stratofortresses landed here Friday, after circling the world nonstop in the record time of 45 hours and 19 minutes.

History's first nonstop jet flight around the world was hailed by Gen. Curtis Lemay, commander of the Strategic Air Command, as a powerful demonstration of U.S. ability "to strike any target on the face of the earth."

The eight-jet intercontinental bombers conducted a simulated nuclear bomb drop approximately midway of the 24,325-mile jaunt.

Minutes after the huge bombers had touched down on this air force base 60 miles southeast of Los Angeles the congratulations began pouring in. Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Nathan F. Twining—conveyed through Gen. Lemay his congratulations to the crews of the three planes for setting "a high mark in aviation history."

The historic mission was accomplished at 10.19 a.m., PST, when the wheels of the first plane touched the ground. Flight commander Maj.-Gen. Archie J. Old Jr., 50, was at the controls of the lead plane on the landing, although he had not piloted the plane during the flight.

The planes had taken off at 1 p.m., PST, Wednesday from eight propeller-driven Lucky Lady II years ago on a route nearly 1,000 miles shorter. Castle Air Force Base in central California, and they flew an hour. The old record was 94 hours, one minute, set by the Aerial tankers refueled the at an average speed of 525 miles planes in the air.

Whenever Nigel Patrick and David Tomlinson get together you can be assured there's merriment in the offing as they battle each other for the affections of the Swiss innkeeper's beautiful daughter. Deepsea Research

4,000 Bottles—But No Beer

Seven scientists and a ship's crew head out Monday on an important sea mission with a mass of scientific equipment and 4,000 beer bottles.

But it won't be a busman's holiday for the sea-going scientists and the crew of the Oshawa, although the bottles will be empty when tossed into the drink.

"It's strictly in the interests of science," said senior scientist Al Dodimead of the Pacific Oceanographic group at Nanaimo. "The only thing in the bottles when they were taken aboard were these cards."

Each card—and Dr. Dodimead only expects to get between 1 and 2 per cent back—says that the Fisheries Research Board of Canada will pay $1 for the return of half of the slip of cardboard.

It's a means of testing ocean currents dating back past Robinson Crusoe days—toss out a bottle and see where it ends up.

The cards are printed in English, Japanese and Spanish as the bottles are expected to drift toward Japan and South America.

The Oshawa, coastal escort vessel recently converted for Pacific Naval Laboratory duties, sails Monday on a six-week, 6,500-mile trip on Operation Norpac, an oceanographic data-gathering mission in the North Pacific.

Captained by Lt.-Cmdr. G. H. Barrick, it will sail to the Aleutians, Alaska and Prince Rupert before returning March 8 from the first winter scientific cruise of this type.

Operation Norpac is carried out with the United States and Japan to gather fisheries information and effect some sort of co-operation between the countries.

An essential part of the Oshawa's mission, Dr. William English of the Pacific Naval Laboratory explained, is seaward coastal defence.

"The PNL is interested in sound experiments off the coast since coastal defence is going farther and farther out to sea due to the threat of submarines firing guided missiles from far out."

A fascinating piece of machinery on the Oshawa is a special echo sounder for measuring depth.

Soundings have only been sparsely taken off the B.C. coast and Gulf of Alaska, and the coastline is "studded with sea mountains" that sometimes come within 10 fathoms of the surface.

Collects Souvenirs

Historic souvenirs of Nanaimo were found by bastion custodian Joseph Muir during a recent visit to England. In a second-hand store in Birmingham he found the trowel which was used 20 years ago to lay the cornerstone of St. Paul's Anglican Church in Nanaimo, and a photograph album of Nanaimo's early days. They have now been placed in the bastion museum. Totem pole is one of hundreds of historical articles kept in the bastion.

Economic Probe Set for Island

NANAIMO (CP)—Ray Kersey, industrial commissioner with the B.C. department of trade and industry, says his office proposes to conduct an economic survey of Vancouver Island this year.

Mr. Kersey told two sub-committies of the Vancouver Island Associated Chambers of Commerce in joint session that the survey would be similar to ones carried out in Burnaby and the Okanagan.

The industrial committee of the Associated Chambers is concerned about Vancouver Island's agricultural production.

J. Russell Dudley, executive manager of the Nanaimo Chamber of Commerce, said the fact that virtually all food products are imported is "alarming and deplorable."

Merchant members of the industrial committee said there is no constant supply of produce on Vancouver Island. Carrots come from as far away as Mexico and butter from Alberta.

Comox Complaints

'Hungarians Willing To Work for Less'

COURTENAY—The first Hungarian refugee family arrived in the Comox Valley Wednesday and already local residents have complained that Hungarians are willing to work for lower wages than residents.

And the fears of the Comox Valley residents have been echoed in Toronto, where the Toronto District Labor Council Thursday night approved a resolution stating that immigration officials are feeding immigrants into non-union sections of industry paying well below recognized wage levels.

"While we are informed that the authority of the placement branch of the department of citizenship and immigration is limited to sending applicants to jobs where rates prevailing in the area apply," the Toronto resolution said, "we find the ruling is not observed and the immigration department is merely anxious to find employment for these people in order to get them off their hands at any price."

WORKERS SCARED

Mrs. H. G. G. Bryant of the Courtenay Red Cross said the persons who telephone complaints to her feared for their jobs.

B.C. has strict labor laws and refugees from Hungary take the same chance in coming to the province as established residents, she said.

Mrs. Bryant said other people complained the government was giving the refugees $3 a day.

This is not true, she said. The Hungarians get script for groceries only and the Red Cross looks after their other needs.

Ten other Hungarian families are scheduled to arrive in Comox Valley soon.

Inter-high school champion for the third straight season, Victoria High School's senior soccer team gathers around the Colonist Cup, which they won yesterday by defeating Oak Bay, 3-0. Team members, left to right, are Henry Stefanek, Gary Liebel (partially hidden), Jim Peters, Robin Barnes, Dave Dawson, Tom Collett, Ron Pederson, Ron Pinfold, Dick Austin, Doug Lee, Brian Vestrup, Derrick Stone and coach Keith Taylor. — (Colonist photo by Bud Kinsman.)

Vic High Keeps Colonist Cup By Blanking Oak Bay XI, 3-0

By JIM TAYLOR

Victoria High School's senior soccer team, sparked by a blond speedster named Tommy Collett and three juniors playing their first senior game of the season, won its third straight Colonist Cup and inter-high championship yesterday by shutting out Oak Bay, 3-0, at Carnarvon Park.

It was the fourth game of a scheduled best-of-three series. Oak Bay took the first game, 2-1, lost the second, 4-2, and played to a 2-2 draw with the black and gold squad in the third game Wednesday.

JUNIORS BIG HELP

Coach Keith Long, who lost play-making halfback Tom Wyatt in Wednesday's game, shuffled his lineup and brought up three members of the school's junior club for yesterday's match. The gamble paid off beautifully when left-winger Jim Peters, centre-half Doug Lee and fullback Henry Stefanek all turned in fine two-way efforts.

There had been little to choose between the teams in the three previous games of the series, but there was no doubt which was the better club yesterday. With the juniors working as well as they did and the regulars setting up the plays, Vic High enjoyed a wide margin of territorial play throughout.

HAT TRICK

Collett, who has been somewhat overlooked in the shadow of his higher-scoring linemate, Lance Rutherford, during the regular season, came into his own yesterday. Collett scored all three goals, came close on several other occasions, and generally sparked the club with his all-round hustle.

Rutherford, who alternated at centre-forward and right wing, was helped off the field with an ankle injury late in the second half, shortly after three players, two from Vic High and one from the Bays, had been banished for fighting.

During the last 10 minutes of the game, Vic High had nine players on the field while Oak Bay had 10.

Collett got his first goal with four minutes left in the first half, bouncing one in off the crossbar past goalie Bernie Johnston from 10 feet out. Two minutes later he beat Johnston again on much the same play, firing from a scramble close in.

He completed his hat trick early in the second half with a shot from the corner that caught Johnston off balance.

B.C. FINAL

Vic High will meet the winner of the mainland championship in a sudden-death game for the B.C. title, probably next week end in Vancouver.

Cougars Rap In Two Lightning Goals Then Hold On to Defeat Canucks, 3-2

Getting the jump with two goals before the game was two minutes old, Victoria Cougars kept up their pursuit of the leaders in the Western Division of the Western Hockey League by knocking off the Canucks, 3-2, at Vancouver.

Victory boosted the Cougars within three points of the Canucks, who share second place with New Westminster Royals. Tonight, the Cougars, who have one game in hand on Canucks and two on the Royals, can get closer if they can beat the Royals on New Westminster ice. Canucks play here Monday and a sweep of the weekend action of three games in four nights would leave the Victoria club in second place, and possibly, only nine points behind Seattle Americans.

Coach Colin Kilburn ended a scoring slump at 58 seconds, when he steered his own rebound past Vancouver goalie Ray Mikulan. It was his 21st goal

Twenty-seven seconds later, defenceman Nelson Bulloch got his second goal since coming off the injured list, and fourth of the season, as he took a pass-out from a corner to blaze the puck into the net.

Jackie McLeod, who returned to the Vancouver line-up after missing about two months of action because of a knee injury, cut the lead in two with his 15th goal early in the second period.

Wayne Brown broke from centre ice in the third period and rifled his 21st goal past Mikulan for what proved to be the winning move. Wiggie Wylie got a second goal past Marcel Pelletier with almost 10 minutes left but the Cougars held out the rest of the way.

Pelletier had his hand cut open late in the third period and the game was held up for 10 minutes while five stitches were taken to close the wound. He stopped 36 shots, turning in an excellent game.

Victoria—Goal, Pelletier; defence, Reinhart, Baldwin, Davidson, Bulloch; forwards, Haworth, Leach, Carmichael, W. Brown, Andersen, Ranieri, Chupka, Kilburn, Wilson, Macauley.

Harney Takes Tourney Lead— Under Par on 15 of 36 Holes

Paul Harney of Bolton, Mass., sensational young newcomer to the touring professional ranks, tied the competitive course record at the Tijuana Country Club in Mexico yesterday with a seven-under par 65 to take the half-way lead in the $15,000 Caliente Open golf tournament with a 36-hole total of 135.

One stroke back were two seasoned tournament men, Doug Ford and Al Besselink, with 67's yesterday for 136. Scores of 146 and under qualified for the final two rounds, and four Canadians made the grade.

Stan Leonard of Lachute, Quebec, fared the best of the four with a 72 for 140. Other Canadians still in the running are Jerry Kesselring, 143; Bill Mawhinney, 143; and Jack Kay, 145.

Harney now has 15 birdies in the first 36 holes of play. At that he ran into trouble on the final six holes yesterday, three-putting two greens.

English-pro Harry Weetman, who made news Thursday with a 29 on the last nine holes to share the lead with a 68, slipped to 71 and is four strokes off the pace, tied with Julius Boros.

Americans Stay Even On Second Prairie Tour

Seattle Americans stayed even on their second trip around the Eastern Division of the Western Hockey League by holding the Flyers to a 4-4 tie last night before more than 5,000 Edmonton fans.

Americans had won from Winnipeg Warriors and lost to Brandon Regals in previous games this week. The Western Division leaders end the trip tonight at Calgary.

Meanwhile, the Regals were upset, 3-2, by the Warriors in a game at Winnipeg and dropped eight points behind the leading Flyers.

Americans are 12 points ahead in their division.

TWO DOWN

Flyers found themselves two goals in arrears before the game was five minutes old as Guyle Fielder scored his 21st goal and the fast-coming Ed Dorohoy whacked in his 20th.

From there, it was the youthful Flyers who carried the play and only some fine goaling by Emile Francis enabled Americans to get away with one point.

Murray Costello scored twice and Tony Leswick scored once in the second period for Flyers. Alex Kuzma potted his 21st goal to keep Seattle even.

Fielder set up Ray Kinasewich for his 28th goal late in the third period but Flyers came back less than a minute later to pull even for the third time.

Regals, who now have lost four of their last five games, ran into a Winnipeg team playing its best hockey of the season.

Warriors got a start in the first period when defenceman Noel Price scored while Brandon played shorthanded. They made it 2-0 in the second period and 3-0 in the third period while Regals tried to cash in on a Winnipeg penalty.

Brandon fought back sturdily but could only score twice, the second time with only three seconds left.

It was the second win in three games for the trailers, but only their fifth in 25 games.

High-Ranked Players Win in Squash Play

Play in the annual Pacific Coast Squash Championships got started last night with games at both the Victoria club's headquarters in the Sussex Hotel and at HMCS Naden.

More than 100 entrants, some from as far away as San Francisco and Los Angeles and many of them from Vancouver, Seattle and Portland, are taking part in the three-day event, being held in Victoria for the first time.

Play went about as expected in early matches, with all of the high-ranking players advancing into the second round. First-round play will continue today, with semi-finals tonight and finals on Sunday.

Defending champion Gene Hoover of Vancouver and second-seeded Ted Clarke of Seattle, favored to meet in the final again this year, both won their games, as did Dr. Kem Greenwood, Victoria's chief hope in the tournament.

Hoover defeated Bill Atkinson of Seattle, 15-10, 11-15, 15-4, 7-15 and 15-9. Clarke had an easier time in his first match, downing John Waldron of the RCN in straight sets, 15-10, 15-12, 15-11. Greenwood, city singles champion, defeated Tom MacDonald, 15-6, 15-2 and 16-14.

In "B" division play, first-seeded Jim Barker defeated Graham Moffatt, three games to two.

Touring Scots Win Match At Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP)—The touring Scottish curlers, begining the last half of their 20-game cross-Canada Strathcona Cup matches, Friday edged five Manitoba rinks 3-2 in matches and 62-46 in points.

The Scots cut into the large Canadian lead in the series, and after an official check it reads 692-443.

The visitors were led by J. F. "Jock" Waugh, who scored his second win over Manitoba rinks. He defeated two-time Canadian champion Ab Gowanlock of Dauphin, 18-6, Thursday Waugh defeated Harold Hindle of Winnipeg, 15-10.

Other Scottish wins were W. G. Piper over Jack Howatt of Glenboro, 19-9 and J. Mc. Whirter over Errick F. Willis of Winnipeg, 11-9.

Thursday Manitoba took four of the five matches, winning by a 64-52 point margin.

Crowds Total 30,000 . . . . . For Three Matches

Tennis Pros Hit Jackpot in Australia

By DON TAIT

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Jack Kramer has found a tennis gold mine in Australia.

Rarely have there been such crowds at professional tennis matches as are touring out to see Ken Rosewall and Pancho Gonzales play singles.

"It's like running for mayor hoping for 20 per cent of the votes and getting 99 per cent," beamed promoter Kramer as he talked about his latest pro tour.

Already Kramer can see gross take equal to at least $130,000 from 10 Rosewall-Gonzales clashes in Australia and New Zealand.

"We will net about 60 per cent of that," he said.

Kramer promised Rosewall a minimum of $67,000 for 13 months pro play when the Aussie Davis Cup star turned pro after the challenge round last month.

So far Rosewall and Gonzales have clashed twice in Melbourne with the score 1-1. They're scheduled for 100 meetings for the tour.

Those two Melbourne nights netted nearly $41,000 from crowds of about 12,000 on the first night and 8,000 on the second night, which was dull and showery.

Third meeting between the pair here on Friday night drew a crowd of 10,000. But Australians went home unhappy as Gonzales took the lead in the series with a 6-2, 6-4, 6-0 victory.

It was one of Rosewall's worst efforts at White City Stadium, scene of many of his amateur triumphs.

"Madison Square Garden in New York along with Montreal (Forum) and Toronto (Maple Leaf Gardens) are the only places where bigger crowds than in Australia have seen professional matches," Kramer said. "You could play in the 10 best cities in the United States and not get these crowds in any one city."

Kramer said the enthusiasm of the Australians about his troupe is surprising because newspapers had not rated Rosewall a big player.

"But people like to see the little fellow win and Rosewall is playing great tennis," he said.

Totems Edged, 51-48 By Lord Byng High

Victoria High School Totems, defending Vancouver Island high school basketball champions, lost their fifth game in seven starts at Vic High last night, dropping a 51-48 decision to Vancouver Lord Byng High.

In last night's other inter-high game, Mount Douglas upset Oak Bay, 48-47, at Oak Bay.

Lord Byng, taking advantage of some poor passing by the Totems, held a 10-point lead at half time. Totems came alive in the late stages of the game but the Vancouver club controlled the backboards well enough to hold onto their four-point lead in the final two minutes.

At Oak Bay, Trevor Gibson led Mount Doug with 13 points, while Jack Showers dropped in 20 for the Bays.

Annual City Tenpin Tourney Has Record Entry of Teams

With two weeks remaining until entries close, the annual city tenpin championship tournament is already a cinch to be the largest ever held in Victoria.

To date 38 of the 48 city teams recognized by the American Bowling Congress have signed for the tournament, and it is expected that a few more will have their forms in before entries close February 2. There were 33 teams signed up last year.

All bowling, including both team and singles events, will be done at Gibson's Bowladrome Feb. 3 and 10.

Cec Dixon, who appears to be reaching his peak just in time for both the handicap and B.C. zone finals, posted the top tenpin score for the week, rolling a 615 series with games of 222, 199 and 194 in the Strathcona Bowling Alley senior league.

On the same alleys, Will Smith just missed the 600 mark, finishing with 598 (201,215) for runner-up honors. Other high scorers at Strathcona were Ted Bowcott, 574 (230); Herb Chandler, 560 (208); R. Naismith, 552 (207); Cy Waters, 554; Les Oberg, 541 (213) and Ian McKearbie, 540.

Dot Bennett led the Strathcona ladies league, and at the same time, took high three honors for the city this season with 564 (207).

Manager Roy Begg announced last night that he plans to form another commercial tenpin league at Strathcona Monday nights at 9. Bowlers may sign up at the alleys.

A. Quinn was the top tenpinner at Gibson's with 590 (213); followed by Wilbur Webb, 581 (202); Cec Dixon, 571 (215); Gordie Bamford, 571; George Gunniss, 567 (228); Jack Beacon, 562 (205); Len Murrant, 557, and Wilf Smith, 553 (203).

Biggest fivepin news of the week was made at Gibson's, where Charlie Pugh put together games of 334, 265 and 311 for a sizzling 910 series, a new season record in the Dockyard league. Bob McLeod rolled a 711 triple in the same league.

Jack Goldie also went on a pin-smashing spree at Gibson's in the commercial league, coming in with 884 including a single of 324. Cy Wallis, 804 (368); Cy Watson, 736; Harold Gent, 709, and A. Majorki, 712, were the other high fivepinners on the alleys.

At Esquimalt Bowladrome, Alec Pylypa turned in consistent bowling when he rolled an 817 series without once breaking 300. Runner-up was Frank Morgan with 799 (371), followed by Jeff Worrall, 797; Ben Price, 780; Fred Worsley and Alex Smith, 773; Vern Fillman, 757, and Red Bendall, 731.

Doug Romkey was the best for the week at Capital City Bowladrome with 793 (345). Stan Jnoes and Babe Ross tied for the runner-up spot with 773's. Allan Nelthorpe had 736, E. Trottier 716, and Sam Smitherman, 709.

Bert Fogden's 747 in the Letter-Carrier's league was the best effort of the week in five-pins at Strathcona.

Two Nanaimo Rinks Represent Island In Ladies' Provincial Curling Finals

DUNCAN — Nanaimo rinks skipped by Mrs. Marg Fuller and Mrs. Minnie Holm will represent Vancouver Island when the B.C. zone curling finals are held in Nanaimo on February 20, 21, 22 and 23.

Mrs. Fuller and Mrs. Holm both won all of their games on Friday, the former defeating Beulah Gilday of Duncan and Mary McKay of Victoria while Mrs. Holm stepped by Mrs. Gilday, Ann Langley of Victoria and Fannie Berkey of Duncan to finish the seven-rink round-robin with a 5-1 record.

UNBEATEN

Mrs. Fuller's rink, the defending champion, went through the series unbeaten to qualify to represent the Island for the third year in a row.

Personnel of the rink is unchanged with Mrs. Pat Good as vice-skip, Mrs. Sylvia Koster at second and Mrs. Edna Quinney at lead.

Mrs. Irene Schroh, Mrs. Marg Swanson and Miss Helen McKinnon are the other members of Mrs. Holm's rink.

Both Nanaimo rinks had their troubles Friday. Mrs. Fuller didn't pull away from Mrs. Gilday, who won her first four games, until the late ends in scoring an 8-5 win. Mrs. Fuller got even more of a tussle from Mrs. McKay in her last game, scoring five on the last two ends to win, 10-9. However, the Nanaimo rink had already qualified for the final before the last game.

SIX-ENDER WINS

Mrs. Holm had to win from Mrs. Berkey to avoid a playoff with the Duncan rink for the second berth in the B.C. final and it took a six-ender on the eighth end to pave the way for a 12-11 win.

Mrs. Berkey had an 8-6 lead up until the fatal eighth, then almost pulled it out with one on the ninth and two on the tenth.

In addition to the two Island rinks, three Vancouver rinks, two from each of the South and North Okanagan and one from the Kootenays and Boundary will play in the B.C. final.

It's possible that a 12th rink, from the Northern zone, will also compete.

The B.C. champion will compete in the Western Canada final at Saskatoon in March.

African Worker

Missionary-Farmer Will Tour Island

A missionary agricultural worker in Angola and Nigeria, Africa, for 18 years, Rev. Kenneth Prior, will tour Vancouver Island Feb. 10-15, speaking in United Churches.

Mr. Prior, now western field secretary of the Board of Overseas Missions, Edmonton, United Church of Canada, will address a conference on overseas missions in First United Church all day Feb. 15.

He will attend Victoria Presbytery meeting in the same church Feb. 13 and 14.

Mr. Prior's up-Island schedule is: Campbell River, Feb. 10; Courtenay, Feb. 11, and Nanaimo, Feb. 12.

Special reference will be made to missionary work in Korea, Japan, Hong Kong, Trinidad, India, Angola and Northern Rhodesia. Photographs, films, curios and literature will be displayed.

DEAN WHITLOW

There's The Difference

Very Rev. Brian Whitlow, Dean of Christ Church Cathedral, offers his parishioners this parable:

"A pig and a chicken stopped outside a church to read a notice advertising a bazaar and tea in aid of missionary work. At the bottom they read, 'Ham and Eggs for Sale.'

"The chicken said, 'See! Even we can help the missionary work of the church.'

"'Yes,' said the pig, 'but yours is only a contribution; mine is a sacrifice.'"

Message from the Minister

Prince He Was, and Pioneer

This is another in a series of articles by Greater Victoria clergymen appearing weekly on The Daily Colonist church page.

By REV. DOUGLAS B. CARR
Centennial United Church

It has often been said that the first Christian sermon was preached by Peter on the day of Pentecost. Among other things he said was this: "And you killed the Prince of Life." That is what we read in the King James version. In Moffat's traslation, this part of Peter's sermon reads: "You have killed the Pioneer of Life."

On first thought, these two quotations may appear to be contradictory, for so seldom is a prince thought of as a pioneer or a pioneer as a prince. But the more we look at this combination, the more significant it becomes.

REV. DOUGLAS B. CARR

The "Prince of Life"—there was something royal in the very being of Jesus. There was the "royal blood of heaven" in His veins. He was the prince of life who became the King of Kings.

He is also the Pioneer of Life, for a pioneer is one who introduces something new, one who ventures out to where no one has ever been before. Indeed, He has introduced a more comprehensive view of God, new insights into God's purpose and God's providence. He leads the way into a new life — never before reached or conceived of by men.

"Prince" suggests "power over." "Pioneer" suggests "power for." We find this combination in Jesus. "Power over" can be a mighty asset if looked upon and used properly. For example, we admire the lawyer who can have power over his temper in the law court. We admire the surgeon who can cut within a hair's breadth of a vital organ of the human body and then walk out undisturbed.

Jesus exemplified "power over" supremely. He had power over pain—He controlled himself amid the bitter sufferings of the cross. He was the master of circumstances when men tried to confuse Him in his reasoning. He was the master of his temper. He was the master of temptations as was the case out in the wilderness after his baptism.

He possessed "Power over" in the true sense of the word.

But the power that lasts is the power that serves. In order to serve, one must have "power for" noble tasks. Jesus had power for service—to feed the hungry, cure the sick, and encourage the depressed, lift the fallen, recharge the complacent, and strengthen the tempted. This "power for," alone, came from God.

It is because of this kind of power—"power over" and "power for"—that Christ has outlasted the Caesars of the centuries and always will. It is because of this power that the lights of the Christian faith will shine again in the dark regions of Europe and Asia.

In this sense, Christ is both Prince and Pioneer and we need to weave both into the fabric of our lives.

First United Church To Mark 95th Year

A former minister of First United Church, Dr. Hugh McLeod, will conduct 95th anniversary services at the church Feb. 3.

An anniversary social will be held in Fellowship Hall, Feb. 5 at 7 p.m., where speakers will be Dr. McLeod, now minister of Knox United Church in Winnipeg, and Dr. W. G. Wilson, also a former minister.

First United Church had its beginning Feb. 3, 1862, when 14 men and two women met in Smith's Hall and formally organized the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church of Vancouver Island.

In 1924, by a majority vote of the congregation, First Presbyterian became part of the United Church of Canada, and in 1925, adopted its present name.

Late Selling Batters Down N.Y. Prices

NEW YORK, AP — The stock market batted down in a late wave of selling loss to worst beating Friday since Oct. 4, the day of the Russian earth satellite.

Prices were lost from fractions to four points or more.

The depressed ticker tape ran three to seven hours behind actual sales as a record volume of persons seeking to sell their holdings caused a delay in the reporting of transactions by the Exchange's ticker.

Big Day at Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Earlier gains wilted under selling pressure in heavy trading Friday and the stock market closed easy on index losses but gains however were small.

Activity was high at the open and it continued that way for the almost session. Volume of 2,789,400 shares was the heaviest since May 7, 1956, the last time it was exceeded 3,000,000 shares.

Stocks and bonds are showing strong interest as gold mining and industrial securities were pushed to lower levels. Papers held the steadiest as they were up a fraction.

A large part of the activity was again in base metals as the market had been set ablaze by reports of the best gold finds in Ontario's Timmins area. Losses were a couple of cents.

Base metals dipped from the previous close. Prices were down fractions to around a point.

'False Statements'

Bennett Insists Sinclair Resign

REV. HENRY EARLE

Premier Bennett yesterday called for the resignation of federal Fisheries Minister James Sinclair for [illegible] 'false statements' that Ottawa [illegible] toll bridges.

He is making these false statements deliberately in order to confuse the people of B.C., said the premier, incensed because Mr. Sinclair has refused to retract the statement. "We are getting nothing but obstruction from the B.C. federal ministers. They are throwing sand in the gears."

Mr. Sinclair first made the statement in his home riding of South Vancouver last week and later repeated the charge on his return to Ottawa. He said residents in his riding were being forced to pay taxes to subsidize unprofitable bridges elsewhere in the province.

Lions Gate profits, which run at the rate of $1,250,000 a year, are used exclusively for the retirement of the cost of structures in the Burrard Inlet bridge system, said the premier.

Driver 'In No Hurry' At 90 Miles an Hour

One of four careless drivers to appear in city police court yesterday, was told she was lucky to get off with a fine. She pleaded guilty but said she was in no hurry and was heaviest of all.

Court was told that a police officer spotted Edgar Henry Pugh 3920 Finnerty Road, driving east on Hillside at a high rate of speed.

The officer gave chase, and saw Pugh's car cross to the left hand side of the road while passing Quadra.

At Cook the officer reported the accused passed three cars and at this point the pursuing police car was doing 72 miles an hour and losing ground.

Finally the officer got his own speed up to 90 miles an hour to catch accused at Shelbourne. When stopped police said accused told them he was "in no particular hurry just going home."

Magistrate Henry C. Hall fined Pugh $40, suspended his licence, and said he would recommend to the motor vehicle branch that the suspension be for six months.

When Pugh asked if he might be allowed to drive for business purposes only, the magistrate replied:

"Not the way you drive, no."

* * *

William Baldwin, 2600 Blackwood who had pleaded not guilty of careless driving was convicted and fined $25.

Evidence was that he had collided with another car on De 22 at 1:00 p.m. at Hillside and Quadra.

Accused was driving east on Hillside when the collision occurred with another car driven by Peter Quadra, who he crowded off the road.

The magistrate found him guilty because he said it was clear that the point of impact was the corner, and because on a street as wide as Hillside (52 feet) he should have seen the oncoming car in the right hand lane even if other vehicles were in the left hand lane waiting to turn.

* * *

Two others, Earna J. Newberry, 30 Linden and James H. Guest, 875 Cedar Hill, pleaded guilty to careless driving charges.

Mrs. Newberry's car was going west on Meares and collided with another vehicle at Vancouver after missing a stop sign. Fined $35 Mrs. Newberry undertook to drive to and from work only for 30 days.

Guest was involved in an accident Jan. 5 at Vancouver and Yates when he stopped before entering Yates but failed to see a car approaching from his right. He also was fined $35 and gave an undertaking to drive for business purposes only for 30 days.

* * *

David Garland, 1272 Hoyle, was appealed for judgement after an earlier trial for impaired driving.

Magistrate Hall said the evidence in this case was light and that he could only give the accused the benefit of the doubt. Charge was dismissed.

Accident was reported Jan. 5 at Fraser and Wilson.

Pleading guilty to another charge of leaving a scene of accident, Gerald Raymond Roberts, 311 Regent, was fined $25 and $3 costs. He also reimbursed the other car owner, Hugo Valois, Head, Agassiz, $50 for damages. Accident was on Jan. 5 at Lake and Quadra on the wrong side of the double line.

Harold Raymond Roberts, 311 Regent, was fined $25 and $3 costs after his car left the Island Highway near the Trans-Lake Bridge, Agassiz, and struck a hydro pole. Accident was on Jan. 5.

NO. 32—NINETY-NINTH YEAR — VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, SATURDAY, JANUARY 19, 1957 — SECOND NEWS SECTION

'Two Zoos . . . One Zoo Too Many'

'Featherland' Ruffled

Suggestion that Victoria's provincial museum might offer to provide a home for Reeve Arthur Ash of Saanich's proposed zoo at Elk Lake, 1858 West Burnside Road.

Victoria Mayor Percy Scurrah has asked Ald. Gordon Hindmarch to discuss the possibility of transferring the zoo to a site at Thetis Lake.

* * *

A local group of interested zoologists, led by Frank L. Beebe, Provincial Museum artist, has said that a zoological society would be formed "at the drop of a hat" to lend support to the suggested civic invitation to Mr. Hertle.

Mr. Hertle is the owner of "Featherland," a 20-acre property on Burnside Road, and several birds and small animals. The work has been going on for about a year and has cost about $30,000.

"There is hardly room for one zoo in Victoria let alone two," he said. "We have had no help or encouragement and it is grossly unfair for any city or municipality to extend privileges to an outside commercial organization."

He said "Featherland" had been established and built up over five years. Most of the exhibits are birds, but there are two monkeys, a Mexican donkey, flying squirrels and an unrideable horse on display. The property is about one mile from the Island Highway.

* * *

"It may not be a zoo, but it is the basis of it, should he continue."

Mr. Hyndman said he did not think he would shift his "Featherland" to a site at Thetis Lake if asked, and said he would not favor an amalgamation with Mr. Hertle's zoo.

"We ought to be given a full hearing before anything is done," he said, "and an investigation. I have been here 10 years, paying taxes to Saanich. One of us would have to go, and I don't think it should be me."

* * *

Reeve Arthur Ash of Saanich said there had been nothing done officially by any council towards the transfer of Mr. Hertle's zoo to the area.

Mr. Hyndman had misinterpreted two news stories about the suggestion, he said. And he added it was a free country, with free enterprise, and if Mr. Hertle bought property here nobody could stop him.

Discussing the suggestion that an Alberni zoological collection might be reestablished in Victoria are C. C. Hyndman, 1858 West Burnside Road, and his two-year-old Mexican donkey, Tony. Mr. Hyndman is the owner of "Featherland," a collection of unusual birds and some animals, and both he and Tony decided they were opposed to the suggestion.—(Colonist photo by Rod Kinsman.)

Long and Short of It

Holding up his arms to show how hard it is for him to find a ready-made shirt with sleeves long enough to fit him is Jerry Young, 1150 Balmoral. Jim needs a three-foot sleeve in his shirts and 34-inch legs in his trousers, so he makes them himself on a new electric sewing machine. He has been doing this for the past five years, and now his trousers cost only $4 a pair. He also does knitting as a sideline. —(Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

'Limited' Insurance

'Chronic' Aid Set At Gorge Hospital

A "limited" form of B.C. can be determined by actual ex[perience] for persons suffering from chronic ailments will go into effect within a year, Health Minister Eric Martin predicted yesterday.

Gorge Road Hospital will be one of the first to be included in the program.

The minister lashed out at Liberal leader Arthur Laing who said earlier this week that most of the burden of the new plan would fall on the municipalities.

"MUDDYING ISSUE"

"He doesn't know the first thing about it," snapped Mr. Martin. "He's just trying to muddy the issue."

Municipalities will have to pay a [illegible] per diem rate, the government will contribute the same, the patient must pay $1 a day, while the remainder of the money, between $8 to $12 a day, will come from the province's consolidated revenue.

Legislation will be introduced at the coming session amending the present act to permit the introduction of the scheme which, although the lack of adequate facilities, will be "limited" until hospitals can be built.

SEVEN QUALIFY

The minister said five existing hospitals, as well as two being built at present, have the main essentials of the necessary program. They are Gorge Road Hospital, Victoria; Holy Family Hospital, Vancouver; Children's Hospital, Vancouver; Western Rehabilitation Society, Vancouver Provincial, Pacific Peninsula, Vancouver General Hospital, Vancouver, the proposed new Queen Alexandra centre in and the proposed Vancouver Preventorium.

While starting a program with a limited number of beds, it will pose many problems particularly as there will not be enough beds to satisfy the demand for them, it is considered advisable to start on a small scale so that the experiences

Mr. Martin said in Vancouver Thursday the province must maintain a "reasonable level of costs" in the British Columbia Health Insurance program "because we want to maintain our present high level of services."

He said since 1952, when the pro[gram] [illegible] these per capita costs [illegible] $48 in contrast to B.C. Legislative [illegible] administrative expenses for residents the government has paid an increase to $3[illegible] from $16 per capita. Health scheme costs.

It costs increase to a much greater extent were going to be faced right out of the hos[pital] he added.

Police Theory

He Dressed For Holdup

Thursday's hold-up of a city hall cashier was no spur-of-the-moment affair. Victoria city police are convinced that the armed robber planned carefully for his raid.

The bandit robbed cashier Frederica Scherbaum of $965 while only six other employees and two callers were in the city hall office.

From knowledge now in police hands it is clear that he had a car waiting nearby.

CLOTHES FOUND

Witnesses said the bandit was wearing a tan suit jacket, dark with a grey hat.

At 12:40 p.m., five minutes after the robbery, Sydney P. Hatson, 985 McBride, a taxi driver, found a tan suit jacket and a grey hat on the Saanich Road. He handed the garments over to police.

It can also be said that the clothing had been purchased in a Victoria department store [illegible] before the hold-up [illegible] for the occasion.

Canadian Army officers have helped with city detectives [illegible] who have gone [illegible] without success to the [illegible] that one of these a tall man fits the description of the bandit [illegible] to 10 years old [illegible] build.

Plunk!

She Can't Take It Anymore

Things are happening too fast to suit Miss Friederica Scherbaum, city hall cashier.

Thursday she was held up and robbed of $965 by a robber who plunked a gun, folded in a newspaper, on her counter.

Back at work yesterday, she suddenly heard another plunk, and threw her arms up with a scream.

It was just a woman caller who had placed her purse on the counter rather heavily.

Miss Scherbaum did no more work yesterday.

Paying her first look at Victoria, her new home is Margot Horvath, a [illegible] Eaton [illegible] Margot [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

What's Cooking!

By Frances Thompson

Corred Beef and Cabbage Economical Weekend Meal

Since we have all agreed we are [illegible] let's have an economical weekend dinner. What would you think of Corned Beef? I just went out and bought a nice little chunky piece and, unless your family has unusual appetites, it can be served hot one day and cold the next. Here is what you do: Rinse off the corned beef in cold water. Then put it in a large saucepan and cover well with cold water. Bring slowly to the boil and boil gently allowing 25 minutes to every pound. That is approximate timing depending on the thickness of the cut. During the first part of the gentle boiling remove the scum from time to time during the first part of the cooking until it ceases to form. Continue cooking until very tender. Now someone from the so-called 'deep south' comes up with an idea which goes something like this:

About half an hour before meat is cooked add 1 medium sized yellow turnip peeled and quartered, 4 parsnips peeled and cut in half lengthwise, about six medium sized carrots, 6 medium-sized potatoes. Throw them all in but don't, oh please don't, cook the cabbage at the same time. Why corned beef and cabbage have to go together I will never know but apparently they do. And so it is I am going to give you, or at least suggest to you my "star turn" for cooking cabbage.

If necessary, discard any outside leaves. Cut the cabbage into quarters and remove the core. Grate it rather coarsely, and cook it very quickly in a very small amount of rapidly boiling salted water. Do NOT cook it with the corned beef because the beef should be cooked gently and the cabbage very quickly.

And here's an idea for Sunday night supper while that TV or radio program is demanding the attention of you and yours.

CHEESE BAKE

(about 4 to 6 servings)

Eight slices whole wheat bread, 1½ cups ground cooked ham, 2 tablespoons prepared mustard, 1½ cups grated Canadian cheese, 2 slightly beaten eggs, 1½ cups milk, salt and pepper.

Remove crusts from bread and spread slices with butter or margarine. Put on the ham, chopped very fine, and top with cheese. Cover with remaining bread slices. Combine eggs, milk and seasoning, and pour over sandwiches. Cook for an hour or so. Then bake in slow oven, 325 degrees, about 30 minutes or more. Even teens seem to love this kind of food specially if served with some form of home-made pickle and you must admit it is wholesome fare.

As an alternative here is something rather appealing:

VEGETABLE CASSEROLE

Two cups soaked and cooked lima beans; 2 tablespoons minced onion; 1 cup left-over green beans (everybody is cooking them right now); 2 tablespoons butter or margarine; 1 tablespoon [illegible], salt and pepper. Place over the [illegible] water. Arrange the [illegible] water. Let stand. In the meantime cook the beans in the same water in which they were steamed, adding the onion during the first half hour of cooking, which will require about an hour. Drain [illegible]

Seattle Visitor Helps Children

MRS. O. F. LAMSON

Mrs. Otis Flood Lamson of Seattle, an indefatigable and well-known worker for mothers and children, was a visitor at the Oak Bay Beach Hotel recently. Mrs. Lamson, organizer in 1946 of the Lice committee of UNICEF, United Nations Children's Fund, in Washington and its State chairman of the group, served as a member of the National committee of UNICEF.

In the capacity of National Committee member, Mrs. Lamson was making the West Coast tour in May to attend a National Board meeting in New York after which she will go to Europe. Her personal schedule does not allow time to investigate projects close to their way of life where aid may channel to help a better world for their wives.

Mrs. Lamson cited as an example the many projects of UNICEF in the United States which are helping the needy children of the world. Hungarian refugee children who arrived with only the clothes they stood in, were outfitted with new clothes and toys through UNICEF funds. Many of these children have been adopted by families in the United States.

Mrs. Lamson told of the many gifts which were received by UNICEF from children in the United States. Many of these gifts were sent in response to appeals by Mrs. Lamson. Some of the gifts were sent to Mrs. Lamson's own children, with requests that they be distributed to children in other countries.

Mrs. Lamson recalls that a [illegible] that one of the finest things of democracy was enabling people to give services not for money but for the honor of their country. Europe needs voluntary services of women such as we have in this country, Mrs. Lamson says, and hopes that she may be able to interest some groups while she is abroad.

A member of the Seattle Press Club and an honorary member of the Seattle Branch of the National League of American Pen Women, Mrs. Lamson has written two books and many articles.

A visitor to Victoria for 35 years, she has many friends here.

She carried a bouquet of white roses centred [illegible] with American Beauty roses and [illegible] of the violets with white streamers.

Commandants Meet

Peru Visitor Impressed By Royal Roads Routine

Cmdr. Jose Namihas, commandant of the Peruvian Naval Academy for 12 years, was pointedly impressed this week with the cadets of Royal Roads and the college's layout.

The captain of the Peruvian warship Rimac and six of his officers were invited to Royal Roads by commandant Capt. John A. Charles. They watched a regular drill rehearsal of cadets of the tri-services college, were taken on a scenic tour of the area, and chatted over tea [illegible]

Cmdr. Namihas was delighted with a picture of Royal Roads presented to him by Capt. Charles.

The Rimac, with the Callao, which also often puts into port here, is a Peruvian navy warship which does double duty as a cargo-training vessel. The ships, in other words, pay their own way for the training officers and men.

All the 12 officers are graduates of five years at the naval school—it was a six-year course when Cmdr. Namihas and executive officer Lieut.-Cmdr. Armando Figueroa taught there—and the 80-man crew are all regular navy.

The 8,000-ton Rimac is loading lumber here. It leaves today for more of the same at New Westminster, then goes to San Pedro for a day to take on oil, and then to Puerto Rico. From there it's anybody's guess as to where they'll go next.

Cmdr. Namihas said the Peruvian navy has, in addition to the Rimac and Callao, eight submarines, three destroyer escorts, three frigates and six smaller craft.

Canadians Miss Out On Money for POWs

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians who were prisoners-of-war of the Japanese will not receive any of the $15,000,000 to be distributed to former prisoners in 14 countries by the International Red Cross.

The reason is that Canadians have received their share of this amount—and more.

After the Second World War, the Canadian government decided to pay some 1,700 former prisoners of the Japanese 75 cents a day for time spent in prison camp.

The government added another 25 cents a day for the amount which would be distributed later by the Red Cross from seized Japanese assets in neutral or former enemy countries.

The Canadian government paid out some $2,000,000, of which $500,000 represented the amount to be distributed by the Red Cross.

An official estimated yesterday that the government will be fortunate to receive $150,000 from the Red Cross compared with the $500,000 it had disbursed. He said former Canadian prisoners of the Japanese therefore received three times as much as they would have from the Red Cross and received it years earlier.

In 25 Years

United Church Adds 250,000 Members

Membership of the United Church of Canada has increased from 662,253 to 912,939 in the past 25 years, it is reported in a special issue of that church's paper, the "Observer."

In the same period, number of persons under pastoral care has increased from 1,572,246 to 2,265,585; number of baptisms from 30,400 to 62,102; Sunday-school membership from 624,606 to 658,633; and marriages from 17,902 to 29,579.

Total assets of the church in Canada are $32,604,832. Of this, trust funds are close to $3,000,000; reserve funds nearly $7,000,000; and properties and building funds nearly $6,000,000.

This year's budget is more than $5,000,000.

Winning Contract

By Howard Schenken and Richard L. Frey

BRIDGE QUIZ

The tactics you pursue when your partner's bid has been doubled for penalties may be influenced by factors other than your estimate of whether or not the contract can be made. Vulnerability, previous bidding, and mathematics weight one side of the scale; psychology weights the other.

With both sides vulnerable, the bidding goes:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Dbl.	Redbl.	2 ♡
4 ♠	Dbl.	?

What would you bid with each of the following South hands?

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

(a) Pass. You would like to scare the opponents back to five hearts, but if they don't scare you are apt to find a redouble expensive. Too much of your strength is in secondary heart tricks and your partner is certain to be short in hearts.

(b) Redouble. You have aces to assure that your opponents can't win a flock of tricks in the red suits, and your jack of spades behind the double should be sufficient strength for partner's powerful trump suit. If the opponents run you don't mind.

(c) Pass. This hand is just too good to redouble. Something is very wrong with the picture. West almost certainly has a distributional hand that will not stand a redouble.

(d) Pass. You have no reason to rescue partner's strongly rebid suit, nor do you have the kind of hand that warrants a redouble.

(e) Redouble. If the opponents run, you are certain of three tricks at least, plus whatever partner may take. North is sure to be short in hearts and your cards will be in the right place for him.

(f) Pass. You like it too well to think of disturbing it, and only hope that West will let the double stay in.

Macmillan Names Last of Cabinet; Eden Sets Sail

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Anthony Eden sailed for New Zealand Friday for a long rest while Prime Minister Harold Macmillan virtually completed the new government lineup.

Eden boarded ship for the 35-day voyage through the Panama Canal. His doctors told him he has abdominal symptoms similar to those he suffered in 1953 before a series of operations.

Macmillan completed the appointment of the last of 29 junior ministers.

One of the most significant was that of Sir Edward Boyle, 33, who resigned as economic secretary to the treasury as a protest against Anglo - French intervention in Egypt.

His return as parliamentary secretary to the ministry of education is seen as a bid to show that past differences in the Conservative party over Suez policy are being forgotten in the interests of unity.

Those who championed a vigorous policy against Egypt were not overlooked. One of the most outspoken, Julian Amery, 37, got his first government post as parliamentary undersecretary of state and financial secretary at the war office.

John M. James, MP for Durham, spruces up for winter weather in Ottawa with, of all things, a mink bow tie. The latest thing in men's apparel was given to the resident of Bowmanville, Ont., by Bill Thiesberger, fur-farming constituent.—(CPC).

Test Success

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP)—The port is the plain, simple, beautiful truth that fluoridation has transformed a community noted for children with mouths full of decayed and unhealthy teeth into one with a substantial percentage of children with perfect, pearly teeth and a general lessening of tooth decay among all age groups.

All that Brantford has to report is the plain, simple, beautiful truth that fluoridation has transformed a community noted for children with mouths full of decayed and unhealthy teeth into one with a substantial percentage of children with perfect, pearly teeth and a general lessening of tooth decay among all age groups.

"Brantford likewise reports that fluoridation is harmless to the public health."

Hypnotist Escapes Lawsuit

'Go Back to Your Husband'

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A hypnotist obtained dismissal of a $20,000 alienations of affections suit Thursday after he placed Mrs. Rose Werra in a trance before a judge and said softly:

"I command you to return to your former relationship with your husband. Show him respect and love. Do you understand that I will have no influence on you, that I will have no influence on you, that I will no longer be able to hypnotize you?"

"Yes," Mrs. Silvester Werra, 43, replied.

The hypnotist, Jacob Apsel, 59, continued: "When I count five you will be fully awake and refreshed."

At the count of five Mrs. Werra opened her eyes, gathered her purse and left.

Thereupon Judge Harvey Neeland dismissed the suit Werra, 44, had brought against Apsel, a self-styled spiritualist.

Werra agreed to withdraw his action if Apsel would end his relationship with Mrs. Werra through post-hypnotic suggestion in the court's presence.

Werra charged Apsel had won his wife's affections by convincing her that Apsel and Mrs. Werra were married in 1716 during a previous life.

Apsel contended Mrs. Werra was the medium and that she had told him of their previous "marriage."

Werra said a spiritualist had told him his wife could be released only if Apsel would "break his spell" over her. Apsel denied that he had any power over her but that he was willing to "take the imaginary harness off."
